From the Paris Gazette, dated July 4.

Warsaw, June 5.

TH E Cardinal Primate has call'd a general Diet, by Universalia or circular Letters which he has caus'd to be publish'd: In them he takes upon him his usual Titles of Michael Stephen Radziejowski, Cardinal Priest of the Holy Roman Church by the Title of Sra. Maria della Pace, Archbishop of Gnesna, Primate and Legate born of the Kingdom of Poland and of the great Dutchy of Lithuania, and first Prince. They contain in Substance, That he call'd to mind, with Grief, the Irruption made to Warsaw in the Month of August last by King Augustus, with Troops of profligate Fellows that kept no Discipline; who dispers'd the Assembly that was met there, pillag'd without Distinction Palaces and Churches, seiz'd Goods that were left in Trust, and forc'd him to retire to the Sea with the Marshal of the Confederacy; that however, the Loss of his Effects and the Attempts against his Reputation and Life, which he had always employ'd for the Good of his Country, did not affect him so sensibly, as his finding himself under a Necessity to abandon the Care and Government of the Republick, at a Time when they who compose the Body Politick were oblig'd to retire to the Borders of the Kingdom, or into Forreign Countries, and when others having usurp'd the Authority, remov'd the Assemblies from one Town to another, and fill'd the State with Confusion, Disorder, and Forreign Forces; insomuch that among so many Troops the Polish Nation could hardly be distinguish'd, every one taking upon himself to Command and Pillage, without any regard to the Immunity of the Estates of the Nobility and Clergy. But, that after so many Calamities, Affairs, by God's Grace, seem'd to incline to a happy Change; that several Palatinats firmly adher'd to the Confederacy of Warsaw; that others were determin'd to enter into it; that the Nobility were dispos'd to reestablish Union and Concord, by the Example of some considerable Families, who having withdrawn all Confidence in King Augustus, and despairing of his Return, were ready to sacrifice their Estates and Lives for the publick Service; that the Elector of Brandenburg having lost all Hopes of reconciling the King of Sweden and King Augustus, after having long us'd his best Endeavours, had declar'd for the King of Sweden, and by Consequence for King Stanislaus; and that the King of Sweden had given a fresh Assurance, that he was not come into Poland, with any other Design than to reestablish the Rights and Liberties of the Republick, without demanding any thing for himself, as he had frequently declar'd, except necessary Subsistence for his Troops, and a speedy Conclusion of the Treaties begun between the 2 Kingdoms. That for these Reasons, and not to be wanting to his Duty and the Love he bore his Country, nor to abandon the Care of the Government, he was oblig'd to invite, by Virtue of his Dignity and Primatial Authority, the Senators, Generals, and the rest of the Nobility his Brethren, to come to a General Diet to be held at Warsaw, the 11th of July ensuing, to seek a Remedy for so great Evils; and that he exhort'd them to meet with a Spirit of Union, by Deputies with Authentick Powers from the particular Diets of the Palatinats, by him appointed to be held the 26th of June. These Letters were dated from Dantzick the 31st of May 1705.

Hildesheim, July 3. The following Letter was written by the King of Prussia to the Cardinal Primate of Poland.

Cousin,

I Have just receiv'd the circular Letters you have publish'd in Poland to call together the Nobility; and I assure you, I am very much surpriz'd at what is said in them concerning me, namely that I have made a new Treaty with the King of Sweden, in which Respect is had to the Affairs of Poland, and that by a publick Embassy, and by several other Demonstrations I have acknowledg'd the Palatin of Posen for King: You must needs be extremely misinform'd of what has been transacted upon this last mention'd subject; and seeing it concerns me much you should be disabus'd, I declare to you, that I have not yet acknowledg'd in any manner the said Palatin for King, nor have any of my Ministers been order'd to do it.

And as for my Alliances with the King of Sweden, I have made no Treaty with him since the Year 1703; nor has that the least Relation to the present Circumstances of Affairs in Poland; there is not the least Intention made in it of dethroning King Augustus, nor of setting up the Palatin of Posen.

I well perceive, that if the World continue in the Belief of what is said concerning these Matters in the Universalia, it will undoubtedly be of bad consequence; and therefore you must not take it ill that I undeceive the People, not only of Poland, but all others. I hope and expect from your wonted Prudence, that on like Occasions which may happen hereafter, you will not affirm any thing concerning me, without being well assur'd of the true Circumstances of the Matter, nor without first communicating it to me. I pray God, &c.

Berlin, June 16.

From the Paris Gazette, dated July 11.

Warsaw, June 12. The Answer of General Schu-lemberg to the Manifesto of Monsieur Potoski Palatin of Kiovia dated the 22d of April last, [the Substance of which was incerted in a former Courant,] has been publish'd here. 'Tis address'd to the Senators, Officers, and all the Nobility; and whereas Monsieur Potoski charg'd him with having made large Offers to him, to induce him not to oppose King Augustus's Design to make himself absolute; the General justifies himself by saying that those who know the good Intentions of the King his Master will not give any Credit to that Calumny, which he could confute by solid Arguments were it necessary; but to prove the Palatin of Kiovia guilty of publishing an Untruth, he declares he is ready to make Oath, that he never deliver'd any Letter to him as he pretends, that he never spoke to him, nay that to his Knowledge he never saw him.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated July 14.

Warsaw, June 27. Monsieur Smiegielski Starost of Gnesna, having sent the Deputies of the Diet of the Palatinat of Sendemir (whom, as we formerly related, he surpriz'd and took Prisoners at Opatow, just after they had declar'd for King Stanislaus,) to the the Marshal of the Confederate Army who has his Quarters at Leuwartow; pretended to March with his Detachment towards Cracow; but on a suddain, he turn'd off toward Lowitz, whence advancing farther to Kostow-Bolenjow, the 22d Instant he surpriz'd there 16 Companies of Walachians, with some Horse of Prince Sapieha's Troops, and kill'd or took them all Prisoners. The 23d he arriv'd here, and after he had plac'd good Guards at the Gates, he compell'd the Starost Loski to publish the Universalia of King Augustus, summoning the Ban and Arriere-Ban of the whole Kingdom to mount on Horseback. Then he went to the Chancery, and demanding the Universalia of the Cardinal Primate summoning a General Diet to meet here July the 11th he tore them in Pieces; which done he pass'd the Vistula, and with his Troops is posted at Praag, where 'tis said he will continue some time, to hinder the opening of the General Diet we mentioned.

From the Harlem Courant, dated July 16.

Cracow, July 2. The chief Prisoners taken by Monsieur Smiegielski at Opatow are brought from Lieuwartow to Brzeze, whence 'tis advis'd, That pursuant to the Resolutions taken in the great Council held at Lublin and the Articles of the Confederacy of Sendomir, they will for an Example be punish'd with Death and Confiscation of Estate, as Rebels. Twenty Muscovite Commissaries are arriv'd at Brzeze, to provide Magazines for their Army, which in number 50000 Men, and commanded by General Czermier, is on the March, to join the Saxon Troops that are there, in order to advance further into Poland. No Person appear'd at the little Diet summon'd to meet at Warfaw the 26th of last Month. The 25th Monsieur Smiegielski surpriz'd 50 Horse of Prince Sapieha's Troops at Wibnow, and took them with their Officers Prisoners; and thence march'd to Zacrocin, to hinder the Meeting of the little Diet appointed to be held there the next Day.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated July 14.

Hamburg, July 10. In the Diet of the Waywoodship of Culin, but a few Persons appear'd of those that were expected. The 29th of last Month the King of Sweden's Life-Guards consisting of 2500 Men, were muster'd at Lissa, and the next Day his Majesty exercis'd them, being accompany'd by King Stanislaus. 'Tis advis'd from Wyburg that the 17th of June, the Swedish Vice-Admiral made a Descent near the Fort of Ratufari belonging to the Muscovites, that 50 or 50 Grenadiers possess'd themselves of a Post near that Fort; but not being timely supported and some of them being kill'd the rest return'd on Board. 'Tis said the Muscovites have at Sea 9 Ships of from 20 to 30 Guns, 4 great Gallies, Brigantines, 5 Galliot's and a great many small Vessels.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated July 18.
